BEST-SELLING AUTHOR FREDERICK FORSYTH SAYS
'BETTER OFF OUT'

Frederick Forsyth, author of 'The Day of the Jackal', 'The Odessa File', and numerous other best-selling novels, has become joint patron of the Better Off Out campaign, calling for the UK to leave the European Union.

Mr Forsyth said, "For many years the British have been assured they could have a sovereign homeland and full membership of the EU. We were lied to. It is now clear we can either go all the way with Brussels to the euro-megastate, or have a self-governing Great Britain, but under no circumstances can we have both. They are now completely incompatible. Only fools and fanatics go on denying it. You must make up your mind. Which do you want?"

Mark Wallace, Better Off Out Campaign Manager, said, "We are very pleased that Frederick Forsyth has joined the campaign as a patron. There are millions of people in the UK who are concerned that a federal EU is not the way forward for Britain. Better Off Out is having great success in bringing together the whole range of those who know that we would prosper as an independent country, trading with the whole world."
